Policy Selection

Directions: After your group selects the policy to present to your local jurisdiction, answer the following questions.

1. What is the goal of this policy?
2. What community issue is this policy addressing?
3. Who are potential collaborators within our community? List all advocacy groups, elected officials, and other stakeholders who may help you with this policy proposal. Separate those you know from those who you do not know and how you will start a connection.
4. How will you collect data to document the extent of the problem? Examples include data reports, published articles, interviews with stakeholders, community observations, and surveys.
5. How will you be ready to present this policy by the end of the EYPC program?
6. Who are the opponents to your policy? How can you work with them to pass your legislation? Consider compromises you are willing to make to ensure your jurisdiction passes your policy.
